Videos from Miss Townsend - mini phonics lessons. | Your challenge this week is to write a set of simple instructions on how to make a piece of Mondrian art work. Included in the resources last week was a PowerPoint which guided you through how to make your own Mondrian inspired art. Please use this, along with the template saved, to write your instructions this week. |
| Other things to try out this week: Theme: Artists | |
| This week we would like you to explore the primary colours. Please use the Twinkl PowerPoint which introduces primary colours and it will also help you with the activity. We would like you to go on a hunt around your house/ garden/ local area if you are on a daily walk, and look things that are red, yellow and blue. You can choose how you record this but you might want to take pictures, draw the things you see or write a list. Challenge yourself to find as many things as you can and then let us know via eSchools what you find. Good luck! | |
